

FINDING FULL TEXT ARTICLES USING ARTICLE LINKER

Article Linker is a tool (called an openURL link resolver) from Serials Solutions to help with the process of retrieving full text articles. When a citation or reference to an article is found in a database search, Article Linker provides a link to connect you to the full text article if the journal or newspaper is within the Libraries' electronic collection. Since our collection includes databases from varying vendors, not all databases connect in the same manner. This guide includes some of the variations you will find:

Tips for using Article Linker

- 1) To connect to full text articles via Article Linker look for  icon and/or text link: Look for Full Text. Click on icon or text link.
- 2) In some cases the system will connect directly to the article.
Or, the system may take you to a page with a link to the article. Click on blue text link.

Input Citation

- Chandler, Susan. "'Curiously Uninvolved': Social Work and Protest against the War in Vietnam", Journal of Sociology and Social Welfare, 2004, Vol. 31, Issue 4, p3, ISSN: 0191-5096

Matches from EBSCOhost databases

Journal of Sociology & Social Welfare, Vol. 31, Issue 4

- Chandler, Susan Kerr. "Curiously Uninvolved". Social Work and Protest against the War in Vietnam. p3

- 3) If article is not found, click on the blue portion of the text link at the top of the results screen:

Missing article? Need more sources? Get additional resources related to this citation.

This link will display all sources of full text for that article in our electronic and print collection.

Click on a source of full text, beginning with an Article link.

If link to article is not provided, click on adjacent journal link.
